

Senators Won't Reveal Finances

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who helped defeat a plan to make senators publicly bare all their financial affairs, has taken aim at a far milder financial-disclosure proposal.

The Senate, following sometimes heated debate, voted 44 to 40 Wednesday against the full-disclosure plan sponsored by Sens. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J.

Among those voting for the plan was Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., censured by the Senate last year for alleged financial misconduct.

Senate leaders said that with the controversial Clark-Case proposal disposed of, they hoped for faster action today on other amendments to the financial disclosure plan drafted by the Senate ethics committee.

Dirksen said he alone plans 18 to 20 amendments, including proposals for limiting and restricting the financial-disclosure section of the committee draft.

The committee has suggested that senators and top Senate employees be required to make annual public reports of contributions and fees exceeding $300 for speeches, writings and similar activities. They also would have to file with the Senate complete details of their financial affairs—such as total income, holdings and liabilities—but this information would be sealed. It would be opened only by the ethics committee during the course of any probe into a senator's conduct.

The Clark-Case proposal would have required that all this be made public—and that the spouses and minor children of senators also be required to file such information.

Dirksen said a senator might have a tough time getting such information from his wife.

As for Mrs. Dirksen, he said, "I don't know what she has or how she got it."

"If she wants to go into the stock market, I don't tell her what to buy."

Actor's Wife Seeking Divorce Says He Has Been Taking LSD Trips

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The pretty blonde wife of actor Cary Grant says he took weekly "trips" on LSD for the past 10 years and tried to persuade her to try the drug.

Dyan Cannon, 30, seeking a divorce from the 64-year-old actor, testified Wednesday that he beat her and had frequent "yelling and screaming fits."

The actress returns to court today continuing her effort to prove that Grant is an unfit father for their 2-year-old daughter, Jennifer. She is challenging his right to visit his only child.

Miss Cannon, who said she married Grant after knowing him more than five years, said he told her he had used the hallucinatory drug LSD for 10 years. During the six years she knew him, she said, "on those occasions when he took LSD, I was with him."

During his "trips" she said a doctor was present only once. Twice before their marriage, Miss Cannon said she took the drug too but never after they married.

"He once told me I was on the verge of a nervous breakdown," she said, "and he hoped I would have it so the new me would be a wonderful me."

"He wanted the new me to be created through the use of LSD."

The marriage was the first for Miss Cannon, a native of Seattle, Wash. She had appeared in several films and television shows before she became Grant's fourth wife in a secret ceremony at Las Vegas, Nev. July 22, 1965. Their daughter was born Feb. 22, 1966, and the couple separated Dec. 28, 1966. She filed suit for divorce last August.

The debonair actor was married three times previously—to Virginia Cherrill, Barbara Hutton and Betsy Drake.

Grant was in St. John's Hospital, New York City, recovering from two fractured ribs and face cuts suffered March 12 in a car-truck crash. He was under doctor's orders not to have visitors or a radio in his room and was expected to remain in the hospital until this weekend.

In 1960 a psychotherapist, Dr. Mortimer Hartman, told news-he'd like to see the President send his whole cabinet.

"I'd like to have them travel together," McCarthy said. "It would be good for the country to see them all."

Kennedy planned a stop at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, after his Alabama appearance, before a weekend of campaigning for California's 174 Democratic National Convention delegates.

He has scheduled appearances the length of California from Saturday through Monday night.

The administration officials backing Johnson in Wisconsin include Vice President Hubert Humphrey and McCarthy said he didn't think the vice president would hurt him.

"He might say something that would hurt," the Minnesota senator said. "But the last time he and I were in the state together campaigning was in 1960 when I was campaigning for him for president. I don't think he will hurt me very much."

Other administration officials scheduled to visit Wisconsin, with the primary nine days away, are Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman and Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Robert Weaver.

McCarthy said there is a strong chance his contest with Kennedy would get down to personalities because the two candidates agree on many issues.

Students Riot, Howard Closes Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Singing and chanting students nearly 1,000 strong have taken over and shut down Howard University in a nonviolent coup, with a spokesman vowing: "We're here for the duration."

The students jammed all four floors of the predominantly Negro university's administration building overnight while others milled outside.

They sang, danced, joined in hand-clap punctuated chants, made speeches and joked in what looked more like a festival than an insurrection.

But the siege took on a more militant tone in a statement issued just after midnight today by students manning the university switchboard.

"There's no telling what might happen whenever the administration gets tired," said Robert Malson, 24. "If they come to recapture the building we can expect some of us will get hurt. But we hope it won't happen."

"When they come we're just going to stay here," said Malson, an economics major. "We're going to stay until our demands are met."

The administration closed the university indefinitely Wednesday and ordered all campus buildings except the student-filled administration building locked.

The demonstration began Tuesday as a sit-in demanding exoneration of 37 students charged with disrupting March 1 Charter Day ceremonies on the campus.

Brown said the protest might end if the charges are dropped. But the emphasis at a student news conference Wednesday was on lack of Negro history and culture courses at the university. Protestors in past months have accused the administration of "Uncle Tom" attitudes.

An administration spokesman said there were no plans to call in police but said "appropriate legal action to restore operations" was being sought. It was understood charges including disorderly conduct and unlawful entry against the protesters were being considered.

The students' statement said 800 students were inside the building overnight, including a few whites. It said the demonstrators had been joined by students from George Washington and American universities and Morgan State College, all in the Washington area.

167 ENEMY (from page one)

the U.S. Command also reduced its estimate of enemy troops in South Vietnam, cutting it by 16,000 to 26,000 troops.

The command said it estimates enemy military strength in the country as of mid-February at 207,000 to 222,000 men. The previous estimate had been 223,000 to 248,000. The announcement said the revision reflected losses during the February offensive but this had been partially offset by "recent major unit infiltration into South Vietnam."

The command added that the estimate was a preliminary assessment subject to revision.

In Saigon, President Nguyen Van Thieu announced he would take "urgent" steps to increase the South Vietnamese armed forces 135,000 men, bringing the government's total fighting force to 924,000 men.

Highlighting the air war, convoys of Air Force and Navy jets roared down on seven truck convoys in North Vietnam Wednesday and reported destroying or damaging 95. Some of the trucks apparently were carrying supplies to Communist units surrounding the U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh.

The top U.S. military spokesman in Vietnam said today there has been no change in the threat to the Khe Sanh base from North Vietnamese forces besieging it.

"There has been no significant movement either way—pulling out or reinforcing," said Brig. Gen. Winant Sledge, the U.S. Command's chief of information.

He said the command still estimated there are two North Vietnamese divisions menacing Khe Sanh, or between 16,000 and 20,000 men.

Communist gunners pumped 175 artillery rounds, mortars and rockets into Khe Sanh Wednesday, another 110 rounds into the Dong Ha and Cua Viet supply bases at the other end of the demilitarized zone, and 20 rounds into Phu Bai, but U.S. spokesmen said damage and casualties were light.

Letters From Pueblo Crew Could Mean Bid to Wrest U.S. Apology

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say letters from captive Pueblo crewmen to their families at home appear a new North Korean bid to wrest an apology from President Johnson.

Some relatives of crewmen, in telling Wednesday of receiving such letters, expressed suspicions they were written under North Korean supervision.

Catherine O'Bannon, wife of Michael O'Bannon, 21, a fireman on the intelligence vessel when it was captured Jan. 23 off North Korea's coast, said the letter she received repeatedly urged her to tell U.S. authorities the Pueblo violated the Communist nation's territorial waters.

Mrs. Warren Hayes of Columbus, Ohio, said the letter apparently written by her son, Radioman 2C, Lee Hayes, described the Pueblo as an espionage ship spying in North Korean waters, asked the United States to admit this and apologize, and added:

"I ask you as my parents to do the same."

Officials in Washington noted such requests closely paralleled those in a letter—purportedly signed by all 82 surviving Pueblo crewmen—written earlier this month.

That letter, addressed to President Johnson, urged him to "frankly admit" the alleged violation and apologize.

The administration has declined to disclose what action might be taken in response to that appeal.

Top administration officials, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk and former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, have maintained that to the best of their knowledge the Pueblo did not penetrate North Korean waters.

At the same time they have conceded that since the ship was operating under radio silence for about 8 to 10 days before its capture, there might drinks in or on your club premises."

The letter said the club could continue to sell beer.

In similar raids conducted at three clubs in Hot Springs two weeks ago, Urban confiscated all beer permits.

Newsman quizzed Crawford as to why so little liquor was on hand—"just enough for a small party," as one member put it—but he denied that the club had been advised of the raid in advance.

He was asked, "Don't you normally keep a large supply on hand?"

"Not necessarily," he said.

Al Pollard, a Little Rock advertising executive and a former president of the club, told Urban he considered it unreasonable to bring in the notice at the same time the club was raided, but Urban said he was just an employee of the ABC board and did not make policy.

"We don't appreciate this damn bit," Pollard said.

He said he had checked with Police Chief R. E. Brians Tuesday to determine what had to be done to comply with an ABC directive ordering a halt to the sale of mixed drinks. He said he wanted to know so that any "unfavorable publicity" could be avoided.

One club member cursed a newsman and attempted to snatch away a telephone receiver as the reporter was dictating a story, but he appeared to be more upset about not being able to use the phone than he was about the raid.

Most of the other members who remained at the club seemed more amused by the raid than disgruntled.

The club is located on the top floor of the 18-store Tower Building, which includes Rockefeller among its owners.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Yes, it's lovely on the desert today," said Bea Benadaret, speaking on the telephone from Palm Springs. "But then, every day is beautiful to me."

Bea on long-running "Petticoat Junction" spoke with understandable feeling. She said doctors have told her that a tumor on her lung has been dissolved by radiation treatment.

The actress did not make any predictions for the future. "But I do know that I feel fine, better than I have felt in years," she said. "They tell me the spot on my lung has disappeared, and I believe them."

Long one of the busiest performers of radio and television, Miss Benadaret had lived with the threat of cancer for five years. During a routine check-up, a spot was discovered on her lung, then it disappeared. Her doctors remained vigilant, and she was X-rayed at least every three months. Meanwhile she cut down her usual quota of three-to-four packs of cigarettes a day.

"Three weeks before last Thanksgiving, I had another X-ray, and the spot had disappeared," she said. "The doctors told me to come back in two weeks for another look. The spot had grown."

Meanwhile she was in the midst of shooting the fifth season of "Petticoat Junction." She told none of the company of her ailment and resisted urgings by her doctor for immediate surgery; she was concerned that her absence would imperil the show. Finally her family prevailed upon her to undergo the operation. It took place Nov. 26.

Afterward, she related, the lung surgeon told her, "I found the tumor, but I have to tell you I could do nothing about it."

"Why?" she asked.

"Because if I did, you would be an invalid for the rest of your life."

Treatment was recommended at Stanford University Hospital, where she was subjected to a linear accelerator, a super-voltage method of radiation.

"They warned me that there could be side effects as a result of the treatment," she said. "But that I might avoid them. Somehow I did. Oh, I was debilitated, of course, but I was never prone. I was able to walk during the entire six and a half weeks of treatments, five days a week."

"I went up there convinced that the treatments would work. Maybe I was stupid, or maybe I had simply developed a faith in the fantastic outpouring of prayer and expressions of hope that I received from so many people. The mail was stacked so high you wouldn't believe it. I think

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Any evening of entertainment that has both Bob Hope and Jack Benny in their own acts is a rich entertainment mix, and so it was on NBC Wednesday.

By current standards of TV variety shows, each comedian starred in a program that would have passed muster as one of a weekly series. However, both programs were specials and in jokes, sketches and form, neither was outstanding.

Hope popped into sight with a predictable volley of one liners directed at every presidential possibility in sight and New Hampshire received the kind of attention he usually reserves for California.

The sketches included one spoof of "Boonie and Clyde." No variety show apparently can resist it. There was an exchange concerning golf with Arnold Palmer who may be a wizard of the links but demonstrated that he is something of a duffer when it comes to reading cue cards.

Benny, in his only special of the season, stuffed his show with celebrities. There were Lucille Ball and Johnny Carson as guest stars. There was also an assortment of quick sight gags starring an assortment ranging from the Smothers brothers to Dean Martin. Since Jack's show was more or less tied to a carnival theme, there was also a chance to insert a sword swallower and a fire eater.

Benny, of course, was the familiar character he has played for three decades of broadcasting—and so was Johnny Carson in a very funny impression of Benny when he played Jack's son with Benny in a sketch. Lucille Ball had her comedy moments, dressed up in a stinky harem costume and singing a siren song about having a man around the house while surrounded by muscle men.

Earlier on "The Avengers" of ABC, a surprise came in the very final moments of the weekly adventure of John Steed and Mrs. Emma Peel. Through all these seasons of summer replacements, it was understood that the swinging Mrs. Peel was a foolhouse if not exactly fancy free widow. Last night, her husband turned up. Instead of being dead in a plane crash, he was lost all these years in the jungle. So Mrs. Peel, a little regretfully, went obediently off to the joys of housewifery—and Miss Diana Rigg who played the part, was on her way back to the stage and movies.

The episode was concerned mostly with shooting people with a drug pellet that produced amnesia and with lots of fights, but it did introduce the new girl in Steed's life. She is a very pretty, wide-eyed brunette named Linda Thorsen and plays an agent named Tara King. She demonstrated at the outset that she is almost as good at hand-to-hand fighting as Mrs. Peel.

Fans of the droll series undoubtedly will take the switch-over in stride. The show is remarkable in the way it makes the most vicious evil-doing and prolonged slug fests seem part of a sprightly little comedy.

In India, where many voters are illiterate, the turnout was 53 per cent for the national election in 1962, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Budget Cuts Never Soared Very High

By EDMOND LEBRETON

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House trial balloon of a $9 billion budget cut never soared very high in the estimation of congressional leaders demanding deeper reductions as the price of a tax increase.

And now it seems to have fallen flat. No specific reductions have been sent to Capitol Hill, formally or informally, and the indications are that none will be ready for some time.

Congressional economists are showing irritation. Some are suggesting that the $9 billion reduction talk last weekend by high administration sources was really intended more for the ears of the international monetary authorities meeting to stem the gold rush than for consideration by Congress.

A genuine fear that speculators against the dollar might win gave a strong impetus last week to the lagging discussions between the executive and legislative branches of an economy-tax combination to reduce the prospective $20 billion deficit and bolster the U.S. international financial position. The momentum has slackened since then.

There was a point at which key congressmen were talking of an even steeper increase than the 10 per cent income tax surcharge Johnson is asking. Some suggested restoring the regular income-tax bracket rates, except in the lowest brackets, as they were before the massive 1964 tax reduction instead of merely adding a surcharge.

Such a rollback would yield an estimated $14 billion increase in revenues instead of the $10 billion plus which the surcharge is supposed to bring in.

But the asking price was a budget reduction in the range of $15 billion—meaning an actual spending cut of about $6 billion—instead of the $9 billion budget trim that would mean about $4 billion in actual spending.

There was no meeting of minds on an economy move of these dimensions.

It would require dropping, postponing indefinitely or at least drastically scaling down some whole domestic programs.

This is exactly the course some economists are advocating. They say the built-in expansion of these programs over the next five years or more will cost more than the present revenue structure can provide—even if the economy maintains a healthy growth.

As the dialogue between the executive and the legislative branches falters, conferences within Congress on the possibility of a legislatively dictated curtailment on domestic spending continue. These now cross party

Students at UA Protest Dow Recruiter

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

—About 15 antiwar demonstrators protested recruitment of University of Arkansas students by Dow Chemical Company here Wednesday by staging a sit in at the UA Student Union.

The Southern State Organizing Committee objected to Dow because it manufactures napalm used in Vietnam. It had written Dow earlier if it would picket its recruiters if they came to the Arkansas campus. The SOC demonstrators carried signs saying "Dow shall Not Kill," "Make Peace Not Napalm" and "Dear Dow, Have Your Forgotten Nuremberg? No One Was Guilty There, Either."

A Dow spokesman in the union said that the United States was involved in Vietnam and "as long as we are involved we believe in fulfilling our responsibility to this national commitment of the democratic society."

The spokesman said the schedule for interviews was about normal. Lines, bringing in Republican leaders as well as the economy-minded Democratic chairmen of the taxing and spending committees. If they agree, the administration may find itself fighting budget cuts it had no hand in preparing.

A development which can have given the administration no comfort was a speech by Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, one of the five Ways and Means Committee members who tried in vain to keep the surcharge proposal alive last September when the committee shelved it.

But Vanik told the House Wednesday he cannot support a tax increase to escalate the Vietnam war, nor approve further cutbacks in programs to cope with urban crises.

Leaflets passed out at a rally held in the student union said, "We support Dow's right to speak freely, but we do not support the manufacture of napalm."

British Cut Bank Rate of Interest

LONDON (AP)—The British government cut the Bank rate today from 8 per cent to 7½ per cent in the wake of Britain's toughest peacetime budget since the 1930s.

The move by Prime Minister Harold Wilson's labor government is designed to make money more available for export production and investment in new plants and machinery.

The Bank rate governs interest rates throughout the sterling bloc. It has been 8 per cent since last Nov. 19, when it was

Wallace Group to Organize

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—A spokesman for Jim Johnson, the 1966 Democratic nominee for governor who is heading the Arkansas campaign for former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, said an organizational meeting for the Wallace for President campaign in Jefferson County will be held here Friday.

hoisted from 7½ per cent in an increase associated with devaluation of the pound.

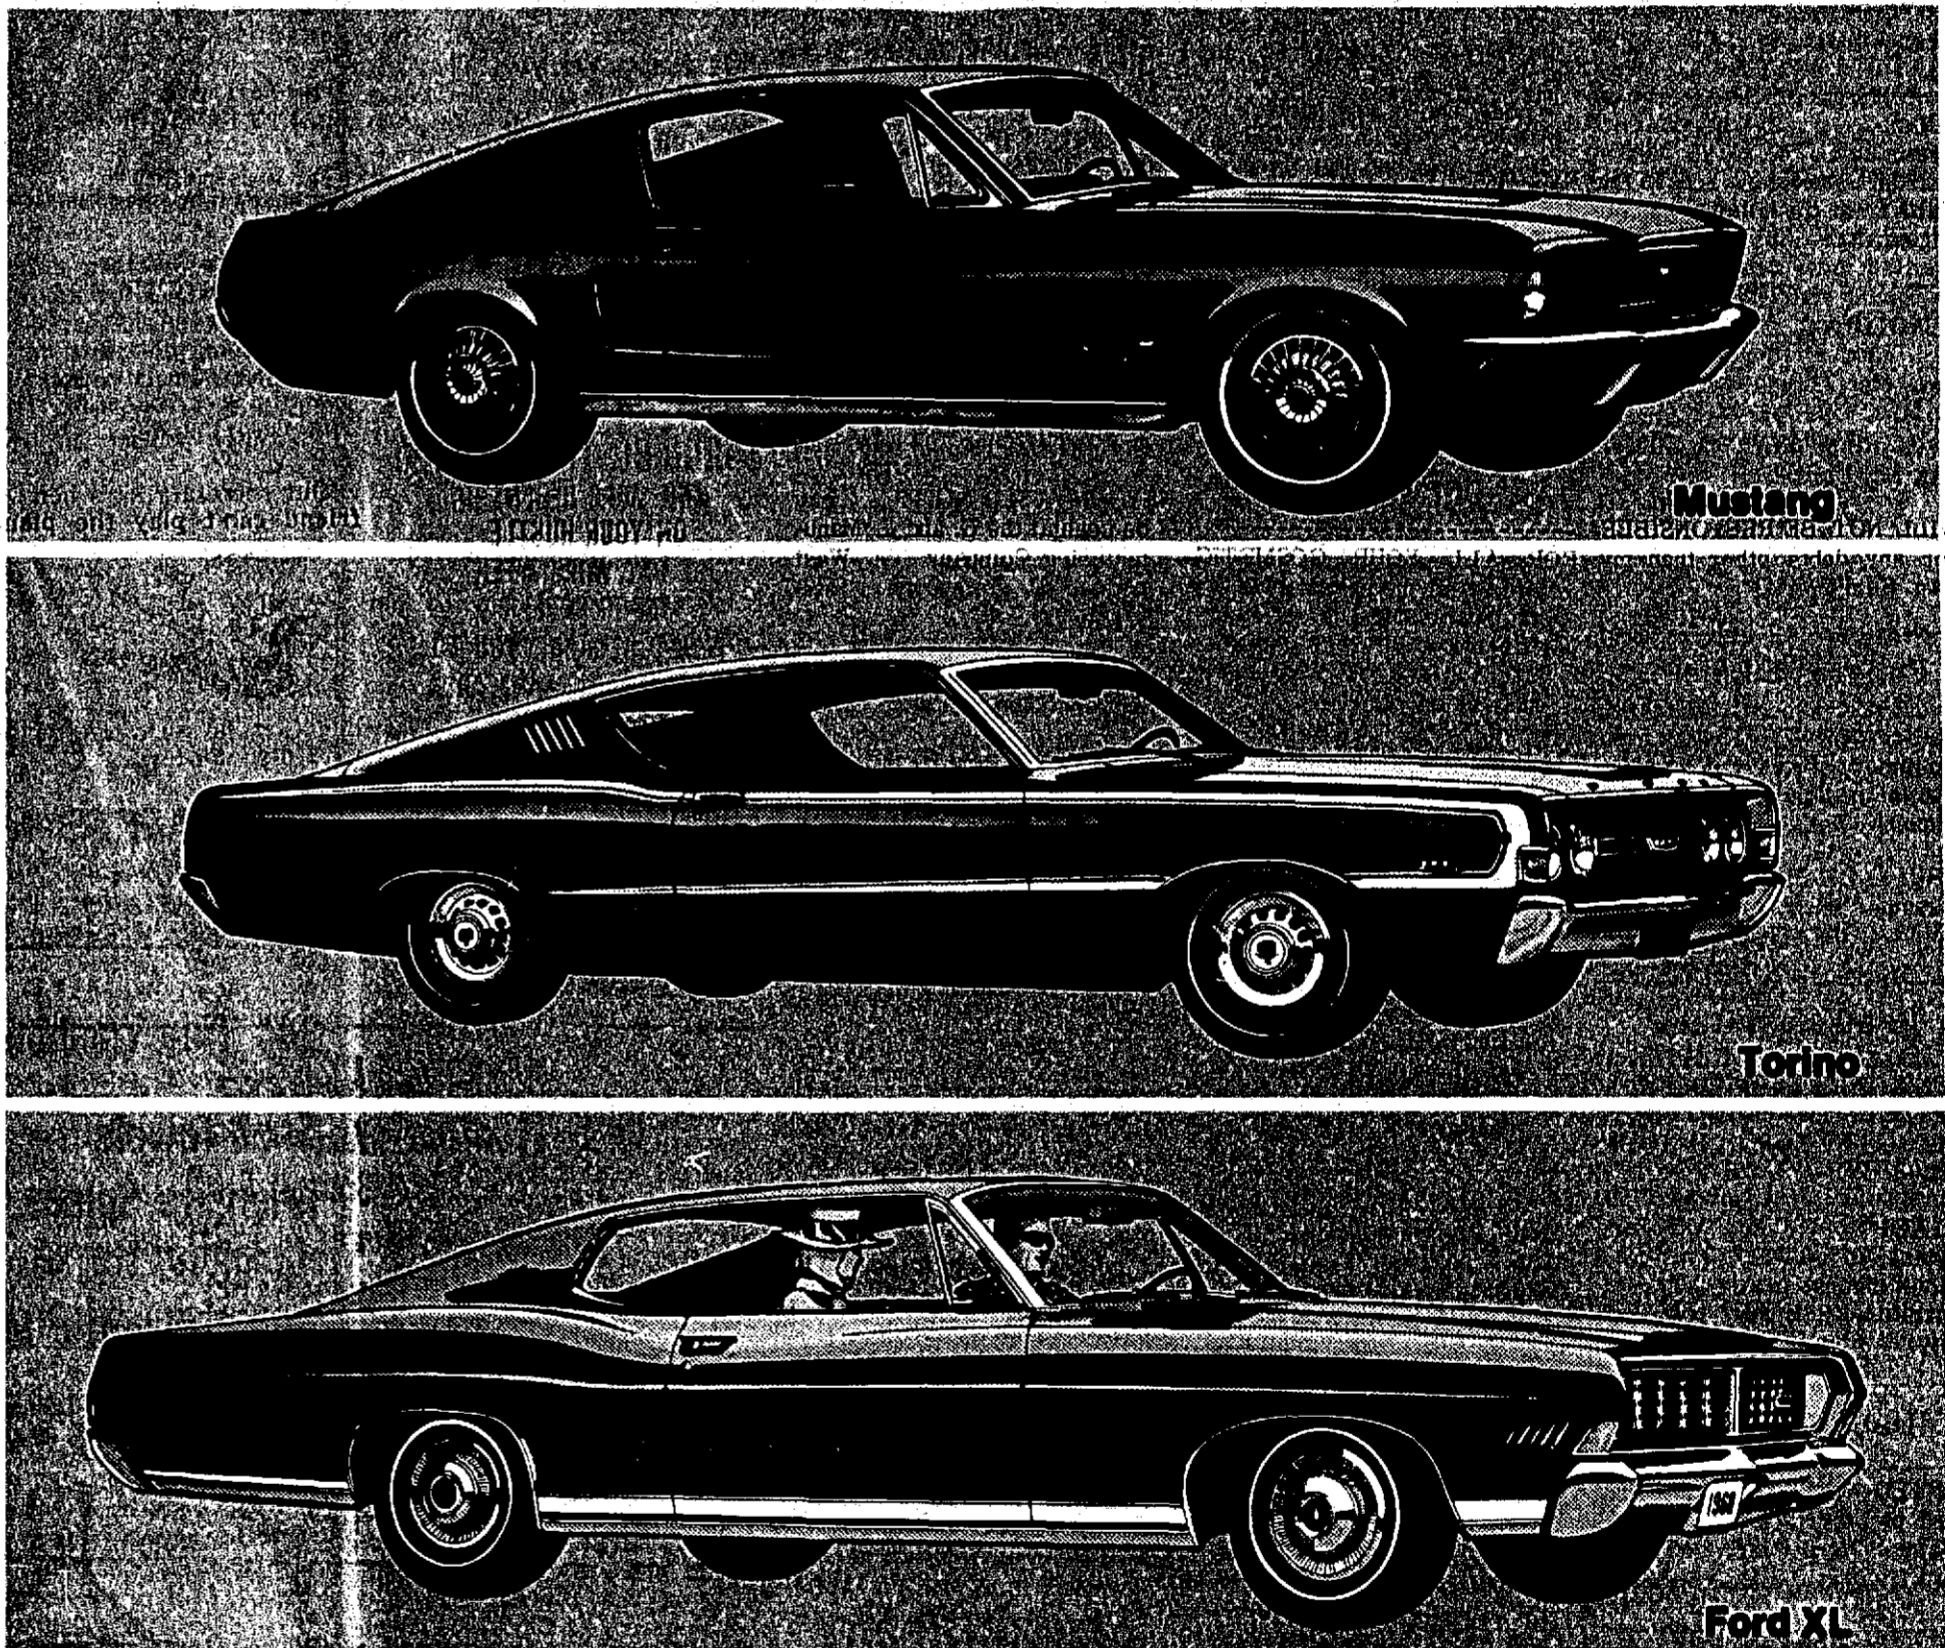

Announcing the reduction in the rate, the Bank of England cited the calming of the international monetary situation resulting from the Washington agreement to allow both free and official markets for gold and the strengthening of the pound as a result of the British budget made public Tuesday.

"In these circumstances," the bank said, "the reduction in the rate to 7½ per cent is appropriate both on international and domestic considerations."

The cut in the rate gave the pound an immediate boost. Sellers on the London foreign exchange market turned buyers, helping sterling up to $2.4035, it had earlier dipped to $2.4025 dollars from last night's closing at $2.4065.

The rate change also affected the London stock market, with leading equities showing sharp gains.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Foods Do Not Cause Clogging of Bowels

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—Do butter, cream, olive oil, etc., contribute to the constipation of elderly persons?
A—No food contributes to constipation in the sense of blocking the digestive tract or slowing the natural onward sweep of the contents of the intestines. Such concentrated foods as sugar, cheese and fats neither stimulate nor hinder the bowel. Constipation at any age is due not to the presence of certain foods, but to the lack of sufficient bulk or roughage.

Q—Whenever I am constipated, I have a headache. A laxative relieves this. What laxative is best?
A—Constipation will not affect the length of the colon and the length of the colon will not aggravate your constipation. Some people have a longer colon than others. Just as some have a longer nose in neither case is there any cause for alarm. A woman might want to have her nose shortened for cosmetic reasons, but no one will know you have a long colon unless you tell them. So no surgery is advised.

Q—I had pains in my right side and my doctor said I had a sluggish bowel. He has me taking Surfak. I am better, but I still have abdominal discomfort. What do you advise?
A—Surfak, a sulfosuccinate, is a nonirritating, nonlaxative drug that softens the stool. Taken in too large a dosage, however, it can lead to over-emptying the bowel. You should try to regulate your bowel by adjusting the amount of vegetable and fruit in your diet. If you must take a sulfosuccinate, try using a smaller dose or switch to a psyllium preparation (Konyl or Metamucil).

Q—I have chronic constipation and have been taking Dialose every day. About once a week I don't take it because my stools become too loose. I have also taken Colace. Is there a better drug?
A—Dialose and Colace are both sulfosuccinate preparations. For recommendations see answer to previous question.

"Wonder Bids" is a derivative name given to various weak bids so popular among experts. We have nothing against them. In fact we use them sometimes but we don't go out of our way to do so.

In one table in a recent team match East chose to open with one of these wonder bids—a weak two spades. West jumped to four spades. He was sure that his opponents had a game and was sacrificing in advance.

North wasn't going to be shut out. His four no-trump call was for takeout. South jumped to six clubs and when North rescued to diamonds, South went to six hearts.

South ruffed the spade lead, led a heart to dummy's king, returned to his hand with the ace of clubs and led a second heart. West was in with the ace and played a diamond. South won in dummy, ruffed a spade with the last trump in his hand, discarded dummy's last spade on the king of clubs, entered dummy with a diamond, picked up East's last trump and made his slam.

We won't say that South was in the best contract in history but it was a reasonable slam and he made it.

At the other table East decided that his hand was good enough to open one spade. It was, with 11 high card points and a good spade suit.

South was ready with a wonder bid. He bid three clubs—a weak jump overall. This weak jump overall shut West out of the bidding and it also had the effect of keeping North quiet. A vulnerable weak jump overall may not be too weak but it isn't likely to be one with support for some other suit and North held only one club.

Six clubs made also when the queen of clubs dropped, so the effect of the two wonder bids was to get South to a slam at one table and hold him to a part score at the other.

What do you do?

A—Bid three clubs. You want to make sure that your partner knows you don't have any heart stopper in your hand.

Your partner continues to three no-trump. What do you do now?

Astros Edge Fights Last Night Detroit in Exhibition

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bo and Jo are the talk of the baseball world these days but the Houston Astros are perfectly happy with Don and Tom, thank you.

While playboy Bo Belinsky and Playboy's Jo Collins were announcing plans to get married, right-handers Don Wilson and Tom Griffin were combining to pitch a one-hitter as the Astros edged Detroit 2-1 Wednesday in an exhibition baseball game.

There were other interesting developments on the baseball front.

Willie Mays had two teeth yanked by a dentist and Boston pitcher Dave Morehead almost lost a couple when he ran into a wall during a volley ball game.

There was some baseball played, too. Phil Linz and Ed Charles, who aren't even on the roster, sparked the New York Mets to a 5-1 triumph over Baltimore.

Oakland's Sal Bando continued his spring slugging, cracking his sixth homer as the Athletics clubbed Cincinnati 6-2.

Mickey Mantle belted home No. 1, starting the New York Yankees to a 9-1 victory over the minor league Mexico City Red Devils in the Mexican capital.

Dick Ellsworth became the first Boston hurler to work seven innings, checking his former Philadelphia teammates on one run and seven hits in a 6-1 Red Sox victory.

Orlando Cepeda's 10th-inning single scored the winning run as St. Louis overcame eight errors and edged Los Angeles 9-8.

Willie Stargell's sacrifice fly drove in the decisive run as Pittsburgh shaded the Chicago White Sox 2-1.

Three runs in the eighth inning enabled California to overcome Cleveland 9-7 despite five hits by the losers' Max Alvis.

The Chicago Cubs collected 17 hits and buried San Francisco 10-4.

Atlanta bombed Minnesota's Dave Boswell for 13 hits in 3 1-3 innings and nipped the Twins 8-6.

Sandy Valdespino, sold by the Twins to the Braves last fall, socked a three-run homer.

The only hit allowed by Houston's Wilson-Griffin combine was a homer by Detroit's Al Kaline. It came off Wilson, who went five innings, fanning five.

Wilson, who pitched a no-hitter last season, is expected to be one of Houston's pitching mainstays. But Griffin, a 20-year-old rookie, had only a 3-9 record last season with two minor league clubs.

While Griffin was making his pitch for a major league job, Belinsky, who is on the roster of Houston's Oklahoma City farm team, left his baseball future in doubt.

The fun-loving southpaw said he and Miss Collins, a 39-24-38 beauty once tabbed as Playboy's "Playmate of the Year," would be married in about four months, when her pending divorce becomes final.

"This is true love," said Belinsky, who has kept company with such entertainment notables as Mamie Van Doren, Tina Louise and Kay Stevens.

Belinsky left the Houston camp earlier in the week after being denied permission to stay out past curfew on a date with Miss Collins. He said if the Astros assign him to the minors he'll quit baseball and move to Hawaii, where he and Miss Collins will run "a swinging dude ranch."

"I'm in love," he said, "and from now on it's Bo and Jo."

Juniors Are Edged in Track Meet

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

After leading through every event, the Hope Bobkittens track squad lost a six-team meet in the mile relay by 65-61 to Texarkana Westlawn yesterday afternoon at the HHS track.

Although Hope took more first places, Westlawn rode the strength of solid seconds and thirds to victory. Hope led 59-55 entering the mile relay, but Westlawn won that event for 10 points while the Kittens finished fourth for 2 points.

Some of the better performances came in the field events. Jackie Riggie of Arkadelphia hurled the discus 145' 4" to rank among the state's best, and Charles Moore of Dierks won the broad jump with a fine leap of 18' 2".

Hope's Ray Wheelington, just an 8th grader, showed great promise by flashing to victory in the 100 in 11 flat. Ray's brother Gary, a freshman, also did well, anchoring the 440 and 880 relay teams to wins.

Royals Get Beat Out of Playoffs

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Cincinnati Coach Ed Jucker asked the Madison Square Garden people if they wouldn't please stop announcing the score of that game in Boston. But it didn't fool Oscar Robertson; he knew what the score was.

Detroit beat Boston 125-116 Wednesday night while New York nipped Cincinnati 108-106. Thus, the Pistons finished fourth in the Eastern Division, getting the final playoff spot. The Royals, in fifth place, are out of the playoffs for the first time in 12 years.

While the Knicks and Royals were battling their way through the first half, the progress of the Boston-Detroit game, which had started earlier, was being noted by the announcer at the Garden. When the Pistons had taken a 74-50 halftime lead, Jucker asked for an end to the announcements.

"I didn't want them to worry about scores," he said. "I just wanted them to go out and get their win."

Robertson, too, figured the Royals were going to have to win on their own and could count on no help from the Celtics.

"Boston didn't want to play us in the playoffs," he said, noting that Player Coach Bill Russell had given himself the night off against the Pistons and Satch Sanders also was out with an injury. "I figured Detroit would win before the game even started."

Boston, finishing second in the East, now meets Detroit in the first playoff round starting Sunday.

In the other season-ending games Wednesday, Philadelphia beat Baltimore 137-129 and Chicago whipped San Diego 121-112.

In the American Basketball Association, Dallas beat New Jersey 109-97 and Houston took Oakland 128-111.

In Boston, Detroit's Dave DeBusschere, as if reading Robertson's mind, said of the Pistons victory:

"Sure I'm happy as hell that we won. I'd be crazy if I weren't. But I wish Russell had played. With him not in there, we were able to go to the hoop and take a lot of shots we normally would not be able to."

DeBusschere led Detroit with 32 points while Larry Siegfried and Wayne Embry each had 23 for the Celtics.

Wilt Chamberlain's 26 points paced the 76ers past the Bullets. Earl Monroe had 46 for the Bullets, but fell short of 2,000 points for the season, finishing with 1,991.

San Diego absorbed its 15th consecutive defeat and 32nd in the last 33 starts at the expense of playoff-bound Chicago. Flynn Robinson sparked the Bulls with 29 points, 22 in the first half, while Henry Finkel's 21 points were high for the Rockets, who wound up their first NBA season with a 15-67 record.

Chaparrals Take Care of Rockets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Dallas Chaparrals have pretty much taken care of the Denver Rockets and the New Orleans Buccaneers may be next.

By beating New Jersey 109-97 Wednesday night, the Chaps assured themselves of at least a tie for second place in the American Basketball Association's Western Division.

Both Dallas and New Orleans, which leads the division, have two games left and the Chaps, one game out, have at least a chance of ending up first. Dallas plays hapless Oakland tonight and Denver Friday. New Orleans meets Anaheim tonight and Houston Friday.

In the only other ABA game Wednesday night, Houston took Oakland 128-111.

In the National Basketball Association, New York beat Cincinnati 108-106, Detroit took Boston 126-116, Philadelphia bounced Baltimore 137-119 and Chicago upended San Diego 121-112.

In clinching at least a tie with the Rockets, Dallas came up with a balanced attack led by Cincy Powell with 24 points and Charles and John Beasley with 21 each. Lavern Tart had 20 for the Americans.

Houston was led by Willie Sommers' 26 points and Dewitt Menyard had 24. It was Oakland's 15th straight defeat. The Oaks were led by Steve Jones with 30 points and Wes Bjalosuknia with 29.

| play forever.                      |  |  |  |  |

"No man on the pro tour is more physically fit than I am," Player said after shooting a 64 in a final tuneup for today's start of the $80,000 Pensacola Open.

"I'll probably quit playing competitive golf when I'm 40," he said. "If I lived in America I probably would play until I am 50, but it is too difficult when I have to leave my family and my ranch and come over here."

Player is the only member of the Big Three bidding for the Pensacola title. Both Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus passed up this tournament.

"I really played well," Player said of his 64 Wednesday, which set the pace for the pro-am prelude to the start of the tournament. A string of sub-par rounds will be needed to win the Pensacola title on the 6,380-yard country club course where Gay Brewer trimmed 26 strokes off par with a 262 total a year ago.

Other favorites include Doug Sanders and Dan Sikes, winner of the Citrus Open last Sunday. Sanders and Sikes each shot 67s in the pro-am, and Brewer fired a 69.

Green Team Saves Best for Last

Coach Terry Turner and Ronnie Brown's Green Team saved the best for last and it won the Hope Youth League basketball championship for them.

The Greens were at their seasons best Monday afternoon as they turned back John Henley and Danny Reyenga's White team 28-20 in the play-off match between the two first place finishers.

Each ended the regular season with marks of 4 wins and 2 losses. A large crowd in Jones Field House saw the Greens jump out to a big lead early in the game and then fight off a determined White team that made a game out of it in the fourth quarter.

All players who did not turn in their uniforms are to take them to coach Joe Austin in Jones Field House any afternoon after school.

NCAA Talk Overlooks Final Game

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — With talk centering on Houston and UCLA, many overlook the obvious fact that either Ohio State or North Carolina will be in the NCAA basketball finals.

The surprising Buckeyes of the Big Ten and the Tar Heels battle in the opening semifinal game on Friday night at 7 p.m., PST, before Elvin Hayes leads No. 1 rated Houston against the Lew Alcindor — led No. 2 Bruins of UCLA at 9 p.m.

Winners of the two games meet at 7 p.m. Saturday to decide the national championship won by UCLA last year. Coach John Wooden of the defending champs says either Houston or his UCLA Bruins might suffer a letdown after winning Friday night.

Hayes and Alcindor are All-Americans and so is North Carolina's Larry Miller, who could steal the show. The 6-foot-4-inch senior averaged 22.7 points during a campaign which saw the Tar Heels post a 27-3 record and rank No. 4 in the AP poll.

Miller's top help probably will come from 6-10 Rusty Clark, most valuable player in the Eastern regionals, and 6-5 sophomore guard Charlie Scott, whose moves remind some of Oscar Robertson.

This marks the second time the NCAA championships have been held in California and it was Ohio State which won the first time, with a 75-55 victory over California at San Francisco in 1960.

Iowa led the Big Ten until beaten by Michigan in the final conference game. That tied the Hawkeyes with the Buckeyes and Ohio State won in a playoff.

Then came a surprising 82-81 triumph over Kentucky for the regional title.

Bill Hosket leads the Buckeyes scorers with a 20.4 average, but the quarterback has been Denny Meadows, a 6-foot guard, who was injured a year ago and didn't return to his best playing shape until the current campaign was one-third over.

Then Ohio State began to click. Sports Network Inc. will televise the Houston-UCLA game nationally on Friday night with the Los Angeles area blacked out and will also carry Saturday night's championship game at 7 p.m. following the consolation which begins at 5 p.m.

Never put off until tomorrow the job the boss wanted yesterday.

Majors Skirt Clash Over Expansion

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI (AP) — Baseball's major leagues have skirted a head-on clash over expansion differences. But sparks could fly in the near future if the American League splits down the middle while the National stands pat.

Following a pair of no decision sessions on expansion before and during an executive council meeting Wednesday, the two leagues announced they would meet separately next month to plot courses for the 1969 season.

The American League goes to 12 teams next year with the addition of Seattle and Kansas City franchises and reportedly favors a two-division set-up with a pennant playoff to determine its World Series representative. League President Joe Cronin denied that the two-division plan has been discussed formally, but said the matter would be on the agenda at an April 25 meeting in Chicago.

An AL playoff could raise havoc with the final week of a 10-team National League race unless some scheduling balance can be agreed upon. Or unless the National League, which has voted to expand not later than 1970, makes its move next year to keep in step.

If the National chooses not to expand and opposes the American division breakdown, Commissioner William D. Eckert would have to make a decision to break the stalemate.

"I'll meet that one when it comes," he said after Wednesday's session.

Before the executive council, composed of Eckert, Cronin, National League President Warren Giles, Los Angeles owner Walter O'Malley and Cleveland General Manager Gabe Paul, discussed various expansion problems common to both leagues, a three-man NL expansion committee held a brief session.

Giles described the meeting as an exploratory session aimed at drawing up guide lines for future expansion. He said the committee reached no decision regarding the possibility of early expansion.

Picks Dayton and Kansas and Bruins

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Dayton will beat Notre Dame and Kansas will defeat St. Peter's in the semifinals of the National Invitation Tournament tonight in New York as the climactic final weekend of the college basketball season gets under way.

That is the opinion of the writer who has followed the fortunes of the Flyers, the Fighting Irish, the Jayhawks and the Peacocks all season.

What about the return match of UCLA and Houston in Los Angeles Friday night in the semifinals of the NCAA tournament for the national collegiate title?

Our pick is UCLA to turn the tables on the unbeaten Cougars, who ended the Bruins' 47-game winning streak in their Game of the Century last Jan. 20 in Houston.

In the other NCAA semifinals Friday, the selection is North Carolina over Ohio State.

This is the breakdown:

NIT semifinals tonight, Dayton over Notre Dame—The play of Don May for Dayton is expected to be the difference. He has been the vital factor in Dayton's 12-game winning streak, much as last year when he led the Flyers to the championship final of the NCAA tournament.

Kansas over St. Peter's—the coolness and floor generalship of the slick passing Jo Jo White figures to overcome the fast-breaking Peacocks, who astounded everyone with a run-away 100-71 victory over Duke last Monday.

NCAA semifinals Friday, North Carolina over Ohio State—The Tar Heels are out to redeem themselves for their defeat by Dayton in last year's semis and they don't intend to get sidetracked by the Buckeyes, Larry Miller, Rusty Clark and Charley Scott are too tough a trio for the Big Ten champs.

UCLA over Houston—Lew Alcindor isn't bothered any more by the eye trouble which hampered him in January when Houston won by two points. Elvin Hayes, Houston's Big E, may again outscore Alcindor, but UCLA's better balance and the so-called home advantage should end the Cougars' 32-game winning streak.

Son of Famed Comedian Dies at 42

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Charles Chaplin Jr., who tried but couldn't follow in the famous footsteps of his comedian father, is dead at 42.

A coroner reported he died Wednesday of a massive blood clot of a major blood vessel near the lungs, caused by thrombosis of the right leg.

Death came only one day after Chaplin had returned to his Hollywood home from a hospital where he was treated for pneumonia, pleurisy and a broken ankle. His grandmother found the body in a bathroom.

The actor never escaped from the shadow of his father, whose silent screen comedies still play in art theaters across the nation. But he said, in a way, he didn't want to escape.

"I've never thought about changing my name permanently," he said once. "A person should be proud of his family name. I'm proud of mine."

Chaplin was the son of Lita Grey, an actress who married the comedian in 1924 after he appeared in "The Gold Rush," in which Charlie Chaplin as a destitute Alaskan miner fought with his partner over the privilege of eating an old leather boot.

Charles Jr., who made a few low-budget movies in the 1950s, lost a movie part in 1953 when his father threatened legal action if the son portrayed him in a movie based on the life of actor Jackie Coogan.

Stabler of Tide Signs With Raiders

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Kenny Stabler, former University of Alabama quarterback, signed a two-year contract with the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League Wednesday night.

Terms of the contract were not announced but Stabler apparently received a bonus. He was also drafted in baseball by the Houston Astros of the National League and said earlier he would determine whether to play baseball or football by which bidder offered him the best contract.

Stabler was Oakland's second-round draft choice and was selected in the first round of the baseball draft by Houston.

A left-handed passing whiz who gained the nickname "Snake" because of his running style, Stabler led the Crimson Tide to a 19-2-1 record in two years as starting quarterback under Coach Paul Bryant.

Masters Win Was Good for Gay Brewer

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Gay Brewer hopes to snap out of his slump Thursday when he starts after a third straight Pensacola Open Golf crown.

The 36-year-old Texan, winless in his last 20 American starts on the pro tour, has been crying all the way to the bank since he won the Masters in a stirring duel with Bobby Nichols last April.

"Winning the Masters was real good for me financially," Brewer said. "I've heard it's worth a half million or a million dollars. I don't know. Winning that tournament pays off for a long time."

But it doesn't guarantee future victories, and Brewer is quick to admit his game could use a boost right now.

Brewer loves the cozy Pensacola Country Club course. The par 72 layout has been toughened since he fired a 61 in the third round a year ago on the way to his second consecutive championship here with a 27-under-par 72-hole total of 262.

Twins Plan to Shoot the Works

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — When Minnesota acquired John Roseboro, Ron Perranoski and Bob Miller from the Los Angeles Dodgers, it was obvious that the Twins were shooting the works for the 1968 pennant.

In the trade, Minnesota dealt off shortstop Zoilo Versalles and pitcher Mudcat Grant, both instrumental when the Twins won the American League pennant in 1966.

A hitting catcher and bullpen help for 34-year-old Al Worthington had been high on the shopping list of owner Calvin Griffith after the Twins blew a one-game lead with two to go at Fenway Park last October.

"We feel we strengthened two positions," said Cal Ermer, the manager who replaced Sam Mele last June 9. "I feel that Versalles will come back and have a good year with the Dodgers but we helped ourselves with a regular catcher to play every day and two good experienced hands in the bullpen."

"I am very optimistic about our chances. We had a fantastic race last year but it might be even better this time. I can't see any one club breaking it wide open. We might go into late August or September with six or seven clubs still in it."

Before you rush out to order World Series tickets for Metropolitan Stadium, heed the caution flag. The Twins do not have a regular shortstop. Third base is a question mark. Jim Kaat's tender left elbow still is causing concern.

Every time Ermer talks about one of the questionable spots on the Twins he says, "Well, Tovar can play it." The versatility of Cesar Tovar, who drew the only vote for Most Valuable Player honors that Carl Yastrzemski didn't get, is all-important to the Twins.

At the moment it appears that Tovar may have to play short stop because Jack Hernandez from the California Angels' organization, isn't hitting. Rick Renick, another prospect has been handicapped by minor injuries.

If Hernandez finally wins the job, vacated by Versalles, Tovar may wind up at third base where weak-hitting Ron Clark is holding forth until Rich Rollins completely recovers from surgery on his right knee. Rollins finally made his first appearance Sunday as a pinch hitter.

Another potential job for handyman Tovar is center field. The incumbent Ted Uhlaender normally gets off slowly and then comes on like gangbusters.

Harmon Killebrew has settled down comfortably at first base. Rod Carew, the Rookie of the Year in 1967, is set at second.

Bob Allison's fine comeback as a home run hitter and RBI man was a comforting development last year. Ermer has Rick Reese as a platoon man in left field for Allison. Uhlaender figures to be the center fielder although speedy Pat Kelly, brother of Leroy Kelly of football's Cleveland Browns, swings a good bat.

Tony Oliva, of course, is the right fielder. Oliva, coming off his first sub .300 year, underwent surgery on his right knee during the off season. The battling champ of 1964 and 1965 is anxious to get back in the thick of the fight.

Roseboro, veteran of many Dodger championship teams, is due to do the heavy work as No. 1 catcher. The veteran Jerry Zimmerman did most of the work in 1967 with the help of Russ Nixon.

Kaat remains a question mark because he still is taking it easy with that tender elbow that he injured in the next-to-last game of last season at Boston. Ermer is letting him take his own time, confident he will be ready to start bearing down by opening day.

With Kaat and Jim Merritt for left-handers and Dean Chance, Dave Boswell and Jim Perry for right-handers, the Twins have a formidable staff. Perranoski, the southpaw master of the Dodgers' pennant teams and Miller, his right-handed partner, join Worthington on relief.

Of several pitchers competing for the two open jobs, the best bets seem to be Joe Grzenda, Jim Roland and Ron Keller, cola Country Club course. The par 72 layout has been toughened since he fired a 61 in the third round a year ago on the way to his second consecutive championship here with a 27-under-par 72-hole total of 262.

One of his strongest challenges in Pensacola could come from Nichols, beaten only by a stroke by Brewer in the Masters.

Famous Nicole Marinonettes to Perform Here

Students Like McCarthy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—University of Arkansas students prefer Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., to Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., in the Democratic presidential race, according to a poll taken by the Fayetteville Northwest Arkansas Times.

One of the Most appealing stories known to generations of children will be unfolded with the world-famous NICOLE MARIONETTES performs in HANSEL AND GRETEL at Hope on Wednesday, March 27th. This program is sponsored by Junior Auxiliary.

The enduring charm of Grimm's Folk Tale comes colorfully alive with the antics of the winsome puppets enacting a story of action, magic, and suspense. The well-known melodies of the Humperdinck Opera are woven throughout this beloved tale of the two children lost in the woods.

The bright costumes and the three dimensional fair-tale settings are inspired by Bavarian Folk Art. The audience will share the exciting adventures of HANSEL and GRETEL from the time they leave their humble cottage to take their perilous journey through the Black Forest to the moment when they conquer the Witch who lives in a wonderful Gingerbread House.

The Junior Auxiliary is very proud to present this fine program for children of all ages. Performances will be given at Hope High School & Hopewell Auditorium on Wednesday, March 27th. Curtain will rise promptly at Hope High at 9:00 and 10:30 and at Hopewell at 2:00 p.m. Admission 25 cents.

Arkansan Held by Reds Writes to His Wife

DANVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Mrs. Barbara Karnes of Havana (Yell County) said Wednesday that she received a letter Tuesday from her husband who was on the intelligence ship USS Pueblo when it was captured by North Korea.

Mrs. Karnes said the letter, addressed to "Mom, Dan and Barbara," appeared to be in handwriting of Navy Communications Technician 3c. Sidney Jerry Karnes, 22, and contained a picture of Karnes "along with two other men."

She said the letter reported that he "was being treated well, fed three meals a day and was feeling fine and for us not to worry." But she said it sounded like her husband had been told "how to word the letter" because of its optimistic nature.

Mrs. Karnes, 20, and her husband, have been married about eight months. "But we've only spent about 20 days and one week together," adding, "I've never even cooked a complete meal for him."

The letter received Tuesday was the first direct communication by Karnes with his family since the ship's capture Jan. 22, she said.

ONE BEDROOM CABIN

This is a small one bedroom cabin plan intended primarily for a young or retired couple. This plan was developed to provide a practical minimum of both space and cost and was arranged in such a manner that the structure may be expanded into a two bedroom house with parallel kitchen, dining area and living room including a single bath with space provided for a washer. The kitchen-dining area is a small compact area with space saving features.

This plan will meet the needs of any individuals planning to build a small cabin on lake property, in one of our state's resort areas. It will also meet the requirements of retired couples who do not wish to maintain a large house.

The plan incorporates plywood exteriors and is designed in such a manner as to make maximum utilization of building materials. The floor is concrete slab and incorporates perimeter insulation.

Strategists Confident for Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's strategists don't plan to challenge Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy for Massachusetts' first ballot votes at the Democratic National Convention because they're supremely confident of getting the 72 votes on the second ballot.

The key thing now, so far as the Kennedy camp is concerned, is to keep enough votes from President Johnson to prevent him from winning renomination on the first ballot.

McCarthy's victory in the April 30 primary—the Minnesota senator's name will be the only one on the ballot—will require the Massachusetts delegates to support him only for one ballot.

After that, the delegation led by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., will be free to switch to Edward's brother Robert.

One delegate from Massachusetts will be Rep. Torbert H. Macdonald, who said, "If Bobby called on me to do something I would do it. . . . He's practically a favorite son in Massachusetts."

Macdonald, who was John F. Kennedy's roommate at Harvard 30 years ago, said a write-in campaign in Massachusetts is mechanically difficult, particularly in Boston and other cities which use voting machines.

"If there was a movement underfoot, I would know about it," Macdonald said.

Another Massachusetts congressman was less impressed by the mechanical difficulties posed by a write-in.

"Although I haven't heard it raised publicly yet, something not to be ruled out is a Kennedy write-in campaign in Massachusetts which he obviously could win," he said.

But as a high party official in Boston put it, "Why should the Kennedys spend the money when Gene McCarthy will do their work for them?"

President Johnson rejected advice that he allow his name to be placed on the primary ballot. The President also turned down offers by prominent Massachusetts Democrats to enter the primary as presidential candidates.

With McCarthy alone on the ballot, Johnson's most loyal supporters withdrew as delegates to vote for McCarthy on the first convention ballot.

They included U.S. House Speaker John W. McCormack, his nephew, former state Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack, and Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien.

All this happened early in March before Robert Kennedy entered the race.

Democratic State Chairman Lester S. Hyman announced he was organizing a write-in campaign for the President. But, with Kennedy in the race, Hyman dropped his plans and told a news conference Tuesday, "I can no longer support Lyndon Johnson for renomination."

thority at Eureka Springs. The measure failed by a vote of 98 for and 345 against.

Congressman Says King Calling Shots

WASHINGTON (AP) — "If Martin Luther King is calling the shots around here," growled the congressman, "we might as well pack up and go home."

But whether the congressman likes it or not, King is exerting a strong albeit indirect influence on the plans of House leaders to vote on the Senate-passed civil rights bill with its controversial open-housing provision.

King is scheduled to lead a "Poor People's March" on Washington starting April 22. The House leaders want the bill passed and at the White House by then.

They are convinced that the House, resentful at anything it regards as an attempt to pressure it into acting, would kill the bill if called on to vote during King's demonstration.

That was a key factor in their decision to rush the bill through the House Rules Committee this week and vote on it next week with no changes permitted.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset

But that plan was all but wrecked Tuesday.

The Rules Committee, instead of rushing it to the floor, voted to hold it until April 9, just two days before the House is due to take a 10-day Easter recess. It is unlikely the House could complete action on the bill in two days.

And when does the House reconvene? April 22, the same day King is due to lead his march into town for the announced purpose of tying up the capital through civil disobedience.

To avoid such timing, House leaders are even toying with the idea of postponing the Easter vacation until the bill can be voted on. It was the possibility of this move that caused the congressman to grumble about King's "calling the shots."

The timetable aside, the Rules Committee action has the bill's backers wondering whether it can be brought to a showdown vote at all, or instead will have to go to a House-Senate conference to be watered down.

Terms Soviet Fleet Buildup Not Alarming

BRUSSELS (AP) — High-ranking military officers of the North Atlantic Alliance see no need to do anything now about the Soviet naval buildup in the Mediterranean.

"Their strength is still far below the U.S. 6th Fleet," one officer said. "If it started to come close, we would have to build up too."

These officers consider the effect of the Soviet warships largely psychological, a way to boost the morale of the Arab countries which the Soviet Union backs against Israel.

They also point out that the comparatively untried Soviet fleet is also gaining operational experience in the special conditions of the Mediterranean—a long body of water, comparatively narrow at various points, with good sailing conditions all year round.

The allied officers are impressed with the feat of the Egyptians in sinking the Israeli destroyer Elath with a Soviet Styx missile. They note with concern that the Russians have delivered similar missiles to other Arab countries.

Another worry is that the Algerian government will allow the Soviet fleet to use the big modern naval base at Mers el Kebir, which France recently gave up.

The Soviets are already using Alexandria, in Egypt, and modern techniques of supplying ships at sea make naval bases less important than they once were. But Mers el Kebir could be valuable to the Soviets as a repair yard and leave center near the western entrance to the Mediterranean.

"Even the Soviets can't keep their men at sea indefinitely," one officer pointed out.

U.S. officials estimate that the Soviets now keep about 35 ships in the Mediterranean though at times there have been as many as 46. A year ago there were rarely more than a dozen.

The U.S. 6th Fleet has about 60 units, including two big aircraft carriers that the Soviets cannot match. It is under the command of Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, commander of U.S. forces in Europe and also the Supreme Allied Commander. His headquarters has been near the south Belgian village of Casteau since President Charles De Gaulle expelled the NATO commands from France last year.

$16,926 OEO Grant Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $16,926 economic opportunity grant has been awarded to the Trumann School District to be used in a summer head start program for 99 children, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., announced Tuesday.

Figures One of the Ordeals to Modern Living Is Telephone

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — One of the ordeals of modern living is the telephone.

Like many scientific marvels, it started as a mechanical servant of man and now has managed to master and enslave him. It is getting more and more difficult to feel grateful to Alexander Graham Bell.

When your house is burning down, it is a great advantage to have a telephone in it so that you can summon help from the fire department.

Most of the time, however, your home isn't burning down, and then the telephone becomes more of a nuisance than a blessing.

There was a time in the American past when business was conducted in the office, social visits were arranged by mail, and the home was a sanctuary of real privacy.

All that has been destroyed by a simple and repetitive sound—"ring-a-ling-a-ling." That sound has made man a prisoner in his own castle.

It has turned his home into a market, an office, a political forum, a torture chamber where anyone in the world with sense enough to work a forefinger through a dialing system can grab him by the ear and pour a message into it.

Ring-a-ling-a-ling! "A mutual friend has informed us you have a child of school age. Naturally you don't want him to become a drop out, do you? Now this new 365-volume encyclopedia we are issuing—you need buy only one volume a day for a year—at a special discount price of—"

Ding-a-ling-a-ling! "Friends of the Draft Friendly Hobe Hurley for Dogcatcher Campaign would like to solicit your vote. On international issues, Hobe feels we should stand steady on the price of gold and make up our mind right now either to stay in Vietnam or get out. On domestic issues, he stands foursquare for—"

Ring-a-ling-a-ling! "Hi, Jack, honey. My husband took the 8 o'clock plane for Chicago, and I was feeling lonesome and thought that—Hello, hello. Why, you're not Jack. What are you doing on this phone?"

Ding-a-ling-a-ling! "Lady, do you have dishpan crinkles in your hands that make even your best friends pity you behind your back? We're introducing Scrammo, the new miracle soap powder, with the secret almond oil base which guarantees that—"

Ring-a-ling-a-ling! "Hi, there partner! Grace and I and a few friends are taking a night off from the suburbs to tour the town. Would it put you out too much if, after the theater, we dropped by your place for a couple of bells before heading back home? We have to catch a 1:59 a.m. train, so we won't keep you up very late."

Brrring-a-ling-a-ling! "I hate to bother you at home with something I know I should have brought up at the office but—Oh, you were taking a bath? Sorry. Well, go ahead and finish it. Take your time. I'll hang up now and call you back in three minutes."

Everybody hates to bother you at home, but everybody does. Brrring! Brrring! Brrring! By day and by night the metallic clangor sounds.

Many people today yearn to "get away from it all." If they ever do get away from it all, the last thing they'll get away from is the telephone.

Even then, stridently calling to bring them back, will be the familiar echo of "Brrring, brrring, brrring-ling!"

Moncham Seeks Re-election

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Rep. William K. Moncham, 45, of Brinkley, filed Wednesday as a Democratic candidate for re-election to a second term in the Arkansas House, to represent District 25, which is Monroe County.

Mansfield Wants Aid Bill Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says he'll urge the Senate to cut President Johnson's $2.92 billion foreign-aid request "to bare bones."

But Mansfield, a critic of Vietnam war escalation, said in an interview he would oppose any effort to suspend the program for the duration of the Asian conflict.

"The trend in foreign aid is in the right direction—downward," he said. "I believe that it should be cut to bare bones this year. But I do not think it can be cut off entirely. That would only be too abrupt."

President Johnson's 1968-69 foreign-aid program includes $420 million in military aid. Last year Congress lopped $1 billion off the President's request, voting only $2.2 billion, lowest in the program's 20-year history. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, another Vietnam policy critic, has proposed suspension of all aid to help meet mounting war costs. There are clear indications of strong opposition to the aid authorization in both houses, but administration leaders feel they can salvage a reduced appropriation.

Mansfield said economic aid obviously must be continued in Vietnam, South Korea and friendly Southeast Asian countries. But he said even this must be reduced as a part of a general economy program.

Rains Over in Arkansas, Some Flooding

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The wet weather appears to be over for a few days in Arkansas after heavy rains Wednesday sent many small streams climbing out of their banks and causing some concern about the larger rivers due to rapidly rising waters.

No major flooding is expected although some damage is expected in the low-lying areas along the smaller streams.

The White River is two feet above flood stage at Calico Rock and still rising steadily as runoff continues to pour into the White River from the mountain streams.

At Batesville, the White is five feet above flood stage and still rising with an additional rise of one to two feet expected today. The river is expected to overflow from three to five feet from Batesville downstream to Clarendon.

The Black River is six feet above flood stage at Black Rock and is expected to crest at 22 to 23 feet by Friday or Saturday.

On the Arkansas River, Van Buren and Dardanelle were both above flood stage this morning with Ozark and Morrilton near bankfull. An overflow was expected at Morrilton later today and Friday.

At Little Rock and Pine Bluff, the Arkansas will continue to rise rapidly today and approach bankfull by Friday and Saturday. However, no overflow is indicated at either point.

Moderate rises will occur on the Ouachita River in Southwest Arkansas and Camden once again will approach bankfull by Saturday with an overflow of two to three feet possible Sunday and Monday.

Moderate rain showers lingered across Southeast and Southwest Arkansas this morning and snow was reported on a narrow line today from Morrilton to Hardy.

Temperatures dropped to near 30 degrees early today, causing some freezing rain in Northwest Arkansas and some concern to motorists. However, conditions were expected to improve by midmorning.

Other than colder air, the weather in the state is expected to improve during the next few days. A fair and mild weekend is forecast.

High temperatures reported in the state Wednesday ranged from 78 at El Dorado to 42 at Fayetteville. Overnight lows ranged from 29 at Fayetteville to 43 at El Dorado.

$3 BILLION
what we've decided," Fulbright said.

The Arkansas Democrat said he had not heard from the White House on the troop-increase reports.

Gen. David M. Shoup, former Marine Corps commandant, appeared before Fulbright's committee to say a military victory in South Vietnam is impossible. He submitted a peace plan proposing that:

1. The United States and South Vietnam ask Hanoi to schedule negotiations, with North Vietnam fixing the degree of participation by the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong.

2. When the talks start, there would be a halt to U.S.-South Vietnamese offensive operations, with the right reserved to continue observation activities.

3. North Vietnam would not have to halt offensive operations as a condition for talks but refusal to do so would be interpreted by the United States and South Vietnam as meaning Hanoi is not interested in a peaceful settlement.

4. If North Vietnam did halt its offensives, the talks could proceed with the goal of withdrawing U.S. and other outside combat forces from South Vietnam.

Shoup said he submitted this plan last June to then-Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara who told him it would be relayed to the White House. The retired general told newsmen he heard nothing further.

In other war-related developments: —Edwin O. Reischauer, former ambassador to Japan and a critic of U.S. policy in Vietnam, denied a White House statement that President Johnson consults him on matters dealing with Southeast Asia.

—Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told a newsman that Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, has requested an addition to the 48,500 South Korean troops fighting under allied command. There are reports that about 10,000 more Korean troops will be provided.

Two Arrested for Race Bets

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Albert A. DeMers, 30, and C. D. Neal, 35, both of Little Rock, were arrested at different locations Tuesday by Little Rock police and charged with soliciting bets on horse races.

336 Americans Killed in War Last Week

SAIGON (AP) — Allied headquarters announced today that American, South Vietnamese and enemy casualties decreased markedly last week from the heavy loss figures of previous weeks.

The official estimate of enemy troops in South Vietnam also was reduced by 16,000 to 20,000 men.

U.S. command said enemy strength as of mid-February was between 207,000 and 222,000 men.

The U.S. Command announced that 336 American troops were killed and 1,916 were wounded last week, a slackened fighting. More than 500 U.S. fighting men were killed in three out of four of the preceding weeks.

In the week before last, 509 Americans were killed and 2,766 were wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 267 government soldiers were killed, 926 were wounded and 181 were missing last week. The previous week's totals were 418 killed, 1,199 wounded and 98 missing.

The U.S. Command said 3,070 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops were killed last week, compared with a revised total for the previous week of 5,168.

Of the 1,916 Americans wounded last week, 853 were hospitalized.

Headquarters said U.S. troop strength now stands at 509,000 men.

The combined strength of the other allied foreign nations—South Korea, the Philippines, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand—remained unchanged at 62,000.

While the estimate of enemy military strength showed a large decrease, the U.S. Command said the strength of Viet Cong's political infrastructure is unchanged at 75,000 to 85,000.

Headquarters said that since Jan. 1, 1961, Americans killed total 20,096, U.S. wounded total 122,017 and missing or captured 1,103. Enemy killed since the start of 1961 now total 314,460, headquarters reported.

Cause and Effect

Was Mrs. O'Leary, whose cow kicked over the lantern, legally liable for burning down the whole city of Chicago? After all, if she had not left that lantern in the barn, the fire never would have gotten started in the first place.

Obviously, in following the chain of cause and effect, it is only fair to cut off responsibility at some point. Even if you do something wrong, the law won't blame you for every single consequence, from here to eternity.

But just where is the cutoff point? That is a crucial issue in a great many of the personal injury suits so common in our courtrooms today.

To begin with, you are not liable at all if no causal connection can be shown. Suppose you are driving with an expired driver's license, and a pedestrian steps in front of your car—too suddenly for you to stop. True, you did wrong by driving with an expired license. But that would not make you liable for hitting the pedestrian, since there was no causal connection between the two events.

Even assuming a causal connection, you are still not liable if your action was not the "proximate" cause of the final harm.

What is a proximate cause? Of course, no two cases are identical. But what the law looks for most often is foreseeability. That is, you are usually not held liable if harm was not reasonably foreseeable as a result of your action.

On the other hand, if harm was indeed foreseeable, you may be responsible even if the exact form of the harm was not. Pulling away someone's chair, making a minor bump likely, could lead to liability for a major injury as well.

What if there is an "intervening" cause—some misconduct by a third party, following your own misconduct, and leading to the accident? Does that intervening cause let you "off the hook?"

Often it does. Yet you might still be liable if that intervening cause was something you could fairly have expected.

For example: a hardware dealer left a rake, standing upright, in a busy aisle. A small boy, running

Navigation on Arkansas by April 1

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The first 50 miles of the Arkansas River navigation channel is scheduled to be open to traffic the first week of April, the Army Engineers announced Wednesday.

Col. Charles L. Steel of Little Rock said the gates on Dam No. 2 downstream from Arkansas Post would be closed March 31 to provide water for navigation upstream to Lock and Dam No. 3 near Grady. Steel said it would take about three days for the water to reach navigable levels.

F11B's Fate Hinges on Some Tests

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower says the fate of the F11B—Navy version of the controversial TFX warplane—will hinge on tests of the swing-wing interceptor on aircraft carriers during April.

The Texas Republican, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, disagreed with reports the panel has all but decided even before the carrier tests to deny the Navy's request for $350 million to construct 30 F11Bs.

Tower instead said he thinks the "committee position is fluid right now."

The panel begins today considering the massive Navy procurement request, which includes the proposed F11B authorization.

Pentagon sources, in predicting earlier that the committee would ditch the plane, said the action could come even before Navy engineers report next month on four contractor proposals to replace the F11B.

These sources said airborne maneuverability—rather than its ability to take off and land on carriers—is the main problem dogging the F11B. It reportedly weighs about 80,000 pounds, or about 20,000 more than Navy officials would prefer.

Two admirals testified at a recent hearing that had funds not already "been spent" on the F11B, they would recommend development of an entirely different plane.

The development of the F11B has been enmeshed in a political hotbed ever since former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara overruled the military and awarded the TFX contract to General Dynamics rather than to Boeing.

The first F11B fleet now is in Thailand, awaiting assignment in Vietnam. Air Force officials generally have praised the plane's performance.

The 30 F11Bs for the Navy would be built by Grumman Corp. at Long Island, N.Y., instead of by General Dynamics of Fort Worth, Texas. General Dynamics built the Air Force model.

In the past the Armed Services Committee has attempted to get its bill in shape for floor action by summer. It could thus delay consideration of specific proposals affecting the future of the F11B for several months.

The April carrier tests are expected to take about three weeks.

Helena School Official Quits

HELENA, Ark. (AP) — J. F. Wahl, superintendent of the Helena School District since 1928, is resigning at the end of the current school year and will be succeeded by G. Harold Chorley, who has been assistant superintendent in charge of instruction for the past six years, it was announced here Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $94,582 grant was approved Wednesday by the Office of Economic Opportunity to permit 75 youths from low income families to attend Arkansas Tech at Russellville under the CEO's Upward Bound project.

by, stepped on the teeth of the rake, snapping the handle against a woman's head.

When she sued the hardware man for damages, he argued that his original error was nullified by the boy's later misconduct in running through the aisle. However, the court held him liable in spite of this intervening cause.

Reason: he should have foreseen, when he left the rake there, that boys—especially small ones—will be boys.

Arkansas Heads for Showdown on Prohibition Fraud

The sleeping political volcano which was the question why hundreds of private clubs are permitted to sell liquor by the drink when the right to purchase is denied the unprivileged class, finally erupted yesterday. Officers from the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board raided the plush Top of the Rock Club in Little Rock and seized its liquor supply. Since Gov. Rockefeller is a member of the Top of the Rock it is to be presumed yesterday's action serves notice on all private clubs in the state that sale of mixed drinks is ended.

As a long-time "wet" newspaper The Star applauds yesterday's action against the private clubs. They represent democracy at its worst—establishing a privileged class above the common herd. The Star opposes special-interest laws, stands against prohibition whether statewide or by local option—and fought for democracy in two Hempstead local option elections... beating the "drys" in 1936, but losing to them in 1946 when overpowered by money and organization.

One curious question is how private clubs operating in "dry" counties manage to supply themselves with alcohol. State police say state law forbids the private citizen from transporting more than one case of beer regardless how many persons are in the car. How then do private clubs import into this "dry" county enough beer to supply scores of members? State law may prohibit, but obviously the enforcement is selective.

An honest newspaper trying to implement the democratic process has no option, therefore, but to support the "wet" side—demanding equal rights for all citizens, not special privilege for a few.

State-wide, Arkansas is morally obligated to abandon the pretense that any form of liquor prohibition is either enforceable or desirable—and to bolster its tax revenues with reasonably regulated liquor sales as other states do. This moral question is emphasized by the fact that we tax the poor 3 per cent on their purchase of necessities while rejecting to a great extent the tax revenue that should be available from the sale of liquor, a luxury.

More immoral, still, is the picture on local option. Hempstead "virtuously" voted liquor out in 1946 yet continues to collect from the state general fund the same percentage of liquor tax levied on sales in Texarkana and other "wet" areas that it collected before 1946. This is hypocrisy at its lowest.

Two developments appear following yesterday's raid on the Top of the Rock:

1. Rumor has it that the private clubs are being struck in order to generate heat for passage of a bill to legalize sale of mixed drinks.
2. The "dry" Arkansas Gazette amended its long-time editorial position this morning and came out with the following statement:

"What's needed is statutory authority for the sale of mixed drinks in (1) authentic private clubs in wet counties and (2) hotels and restaurants with certain minimum accommodations (in wet counties), all under tight licensing and regulation by the ABC. This is the only reasonable recourse under the ABC's policy and the only defensive solution for the conflict between law and reality that has prevailed."

If you have trouble understanding the Gazette The Star has a program you can't possibly misunderstand: Abolish local option, install state-owned liquor package stores in every county-seat town—and pick up enough tax revenue to make boosting the state sales tax to 4 per cent unnecessary. We would go along with the sale of mixed drinks in responsible hotels, motels and restaurants—but only if local option is abolished.

The stipulation for "wet" counties only is merely the Gazette's way of saying the big towns ought to be helped—but no one cares what happens to the small ones.

Rockefeller Won't Be a Candidate

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today that he is not a candidate and will not campaign directly or indirectly for the presidency of the United States.

The 59-year-old three-term governor said he had concluded that most of the GOP's leaders want the candidacy for former vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Rockefeller, who conceded the nomination to Nixon in 1960 and lost it to Sen. Barry Goldwater in 1964, said he had decided he "could not truthfully claim" a Republican following big enough to win.

"By the very nature of our political system we must operate through and not outside one of the major political parties," Rockefeller said.

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York makes his long-awaited announcement today as to whether he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for president, challenging the front-runner, Richard M. Nixon.

Rockefeller is scheduled to announce his decision at a press conference in New York City at 2 p.m. EST today.

He has three major options. They are:

1. He can leave his name on the ballot for the Oregon presidential primary, May 28, and go into the state to campaign in a head-to-head battle with Nixon. He would thus officially be in the race.
2. He can leave it there but not actively campaign in the state.

Liquor Seized at Top of Rock Club, Members Amused, Disgruntled

By GEORGE F. BARTSCH
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Twenty-eight partially filled fifth of assorted liquors were seized in a raid Wednesday on Little Rock's plush Top of the Rock Club, which numbers Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller among its members.

Harrel Hughes, director of the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, and Emil Urban, its chief enforcement officer, said it would be up to "our legal department" if any charges or arrests were made. The raid was conducted under provisions of an ABC regulation prohibiting the sale or storage of liquor in establishments licensed to sell beer.

The Little Rock County Club and the Riverdale Country Club reportedly closed their bars about two hours prior to the Top of the Rock raid. Rockefeller is a member of both.

About 30 persons were in the club when Hughes and Urban

$3 Billion More for War Is Earmarked for Sending More Troops

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional sources say the administration is expected soon to ask $3.3 billion more for the Vietnam war, a request likely to spark another round of war policy debate on Capitol Hill.

The sources said Wednesday that about half the still tentative request would be earmarked for sending about 35,000 more U.S. troops to the war zone—a reported manpower move already under sharp congressional attack.

Defense Department officials told Congress in January they did not estimate any need for a supplement to defense funds voted last year, barring unforeseen emergencies. But their statements came just days before the Viet Cong launched its massive Tet offensive.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Foreign Relations Committee, said meanwhile that reported advance notice from the White House to key Congress members on troop increases "is exactly the sort of thing I've been complaining about."

Reports on Capitol Hill say some Congress members already have been told President walked in about 5:30 p.m., presented a cease and desist order to Dining Room Manager Charles Crawford and began inventorying the liquor supply. There was little excitement among the members, most of whom left while the raid was in progress.

Mrs. Pat Aldridge, the club manager, was "at home" when the raid began, but walked in shortly after the liquor was carted out in several cardboard cartons. She declined comment.

The cease and desist order was in the form of a letter dated March 20 and addressed to the president and members of the board of the Top of the Rock.

It said in part: "You are hereby notified to forthwith cease and desist from selling, dispensing or serving alcoholic beverages in the form of mixed

Johnson has decided to send 35,000 more men to Vietnam.

Fulbright has been demanding that Congress be consulted before such decisions are made.

"Any increase would be a serious matter," he said in an interview. "Do they mean 35,000 now and 35,000 more in a few months, or what do they mean? Those are the sort of questions that should be asked before any decision is made."

He added that White House conferences with congressional leaders do not contribute his idea of full consultation, nor do contacts between individual senators and the administration.

"They get four or five people together and tell them, 'This is

19 Arkansas Counties in Poor Zone

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal government announced Wednesday a $10 million program designed to attack starvation and malnutrition among the nation's poor—including persons in 19 Arkansas counties.

The joint operation of the Departments of Agriculture and Health, Education and Welfare and the Office of Economic Opportunity provides emergency food and medical aid.

More than half the 21 states included in the program are in the South where $5 million will be used immediately to reach the hungry and malnourished with food and medical attention. Arkansas counties included in the program were: Chicot, Crittenden, Cross, Desha, Fulton, Jefferson, Lee, Lincoln, Madison, Mississippi, Monroe, Newton, Poinsett, Searcy, Sharp, St. Francis, Stone and Woodruff.

Arkansas GI Killed in War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department announced Wednesday that Navy Hospital Corpsman Lonnie J. Crismon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crismon of the Attica Community (Randolph County), was killed in action in Vietnam March 9, while on detail about 10 miles south of the Da Nang Marine base.

Kennedy Goes Into Deep South

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy takes his presidential candidacy to the deep South's University of Alabama today where he overawed racial integration in 1963 as attorney general.

Young Democrats at the Tuscaloosa campus were waiting with an endorsement: they'd switched from Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy—and a resolution urging McCarthy to get out of the race.

Kennedy, the resolution said, "offers the country a more realistic and in many ways better, alternative to the present administration."

A federal force under the New York Democrat's directorship entered the University of Alabama in June 1963 despite then Gov. George C. Wallace's "schoolhouse door" stand against integration at the Tuscaloosa campus.

On the Republican side, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller makes his long-awaited announcement on whether he's a GOP presidential candidate, challenging Richard M. Nixon.

Political observers agreed he'd run at the eleventh hour but a top Rockefeller aide said, "There is still a deep division in our own ranks" on advisability of the governor's getting into the race.

McCarthy, meanwhile—with an array of Johnson administration officials campaigning against him in Wisconsin—said

Foils Escape of Man About to Be Tried

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A body block "at the pass" stopped an escape attempt Wednesday by John Earl Alexander, 29, of Memphis, who was awaiting trial at the Pulaski County Court House.

Alexander dashed out of a restroom, which he had asked to use as he awaited a hearing before Circuit Judge William J. Kirby on four charges of passing bad checks.

Deputy Prosecutor Lee Munson was conversing with Bill Butler, a Little Rock attorney, when Alexander burst out of the fourth floor restroom.

Munson, Butler and Court Bailiff P.B. Frederick gave pursuit down the steps to the third floor. Munson headed Alexander off by taking another corridor and knocked him to the floor as Butler and Frederick arrived.

Alexander had escaped Little Rock Police earlier and was captured at a road block. Memphis authorities said he had escaped them earlier. While Alexander was waiting for trial, authorities found saw blades and a partially sawed bar in his cell.

Fighting Again Breaks Out in Middle East as Israeli Invade Jordan

167 Enemy Killed in Saigon Area

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP)—Despite intelligence reports that many of the Viet Cong menacing Saigon have pulled back toward the Cambodian border, allied forces reported killing 167 Viet Cong close to the capital Wednesday, and 15 enemy shells landed on Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport.

The Viet Cong were slain in the 50,000-man Operation Quyet Thang, the biggest allied offensive of the war. In a one-sided fight 15 miles northwest of Saigon, 142 guerrillas were reported killed against only one American and seven South Vietnamese dead. Four miles southwest of the city South Vietnamese rangers reported killing 25 Viet Cong at the cost of four wounded troops.

These actions increased enemy casualties in Operation Quyet Thang to more than 1,000 killed since the sweep began March 11.

Ninety-six other enemy troops were reported killed in five battles ranging north to the demilitarized zone Wednesday. One GI died in these clashes and 15 were wounded, while South Vietnamese losses were seven dead and 20 wounded.

Little damage was done to Tan Son Nhut, one of the world's busiest airports, in the 15-round barrage from enemy recoilless rifles. The 75mm weapons were fired from within 1,000 yards of the field, and AC47 Dragon Ships were dispatched to hunt them. Spokesmen said results of the Dragon Ship counterattack were not known.

It was the first shelling of Tan Son Nhut in three weeks. The recent slowdown in the fighting after the furious combat of the Communist lunar new year offensive in February was reflected in the weekly casualty report announced today. American, South Vietnamese and enemy casualties last week were all considerably less than they had been the week before.

Casualties announced for last week were: American—336 killed, 1,916 wounded; South Vietnamese—267 killed, 962 wounded, 181 missing; Viet Cong and North Vietnamese—3,070 killed.

The figures the week before were: American—509 killed, 2,766 wounded; South Vietnamese—411 killed, 1,199 wounded, 98 missing; Enemy—5,168 killed.
